Simplified Signs presents a system of manual sign communication intended for special populations who have had limited success mastering spoken or full sign languages. It is the culmination of over twenty years of research and development by the authors. The Simplified Sign System has been developed and tested for ease of sign comprehension, memorization, and formation by limiting the complexity of the motor skills required to form each sign, and by ensuring that each sign visually resembles the meaning it conveys. Volume 1 outlines the research underpinning and informing the project, and places the Simplified Sign System in a wider context of sign usage, historically and by different populations. Volume 2 presents the lexicon of signs, totalling approximately 1000 signs, each with a clear illustration and a written description of how the sign is formed, as well as a memory aid that connects the sign visually to the meaning that it conveys. While the Simplified Sign System originally was developed to meet the needs of persons with intellectual disabilities, cerebral palsy, autism, or aphasia, it may also assist the communication needs of a wider audience – such as healthcare professionals, aid workers, military personnel, travellers or parents, and children who have not yet mastered spoken language. The system also has been shown to enhance learning for individuals studying a foreign language. Lucid and comprehensive, this work constitutes a valuable resource that will enhance the communicative interactions of many different people, and will be of great interest to researchers and educators alike. A complete guide to power tools for home, shop, and outdoor use, with advice on maintenance and repair. Includes list of replacement pages. “Ken Green, it seems you’re always stepping in dog poo.” That’s what a friend once told Ken Green, thus planting the seed for the title of a book Green would write six decades later. As a bored college dropout working as a gardener, Green heard a tremendous roar and saw two Navy planes doing aileron rolls as they passed overhead. “Oh, My God! That looks like fun!” he exclaimed, momentarily dropping his shovel. That brief display started Green on an exciting 60 years of good, bad, and funny—but exciting—adventures where some days, he’d step in high clover, while on others, he’d step in dog poo. Still lively at age 83, Green shares his incredible adventures, funny missteps, and bizarre experiences in a humorous way that has the reader traveling alongside as he crisscrosses the country, reinventing himself a dozen times. Join Green as he becomes a 20-year-old Navy student pilot lost over the ocean at night while low on fuel, a roadhouse bouncer, radio announcer, Associated Press political writer, IBM manager, department head of a Volkswagen subsidiary, a deep-in-debt real estate investor who digs himself out of a bad place, head of his own public relations and marketing agency serving several corporate clients, spokesman for an international bank and for The Walt Disney Company, a dog rescuer, animal shelter volunteer, author and business coach. During World War II, a Nazi submarine landed two men on a beautiful island off the coast of Georgia. These two soldiers were ordered to bury money that was intended to be used by Nazi saboteurs to incapacitate a large and busy shipyard. The saboteurs' plot was eventually discovered, and the Nazi soldiers were returned to Germany. In the 1950s, the same island attracts an interesting cast of characters. An olive-skinned beauty named Veronica and a blonde young man named Steven decide to live together in an old house that has been long abandoned, yet is still habitable. An escaped convict, fleeing from prison authorities on a nearby island, turns up as well. And four young men from the local mainland camp out on the island to enjoy a pleasant getaway. All of these island visitors struggle through trials and tribulations...with one another and with wild and dangerous animals. At the same time, three German ex-soldiers who know about the previously buried money arrive to claim the cash. Instead, they meet up with a big, disappointing and unforeseen surprise.

Reeves Shields is inspired by great writers and great science. He is a former defense industry worker who now devotes himself full time to writing. Shields grew up in a small town on the coast of Georgia and now lives near Washington, D.C. As a boy, he enjoyed camping out on islands off the coast of Georgia.
